There is a similar question about this topic, but none of the options in the answer resolved my issue. For reasons stated in the question, I want to install different versions of the same thing (graphviz) in a specific location in the PATH environment variable. On Ubuntu 16.04, graphviz is -bash: /usr/local/bin/dot: No such file or directory So I tried installing graphviz from the Ubuntu repository and then installing it in the user's home. When I run the first one, I get -bash: /usr/local/bin/dot: No such file or directory Is there any other way to install graphviz? EDIT I just tried installing graphviz from the repository, which asks me to install yet another version of graphviz (2.38). On Ubuntu 16.04, the same problem: -bash: /usr/local/bin/dot: No such file or directory But, on Ubuntu 14.04, graphviz is already in the user's home. I have the following in my PATH variable: /usr/local/bin /home/user/bin /usr/bin /usr/local/sbin /usr/local/bin/graphviz /usr/local/sbin/graphviz
