The concept is to demonstrate how 3D printing can be leveraged for more than the most innovative products. It is hoped that this would spark interest in 3D printing, leading to more curiosity and innovation. The sweet replicator builds edible snowballs by printing out sugar and a white and pastel colored wafer in a 3D printer. The user then melts the wafer and sugar, allowing it to mix and harden. The replicator has been used over 200 times by students and provided over 150 hours of educational programming.Phloridzin attenuates oxidative stress-induced mitochondrial dysfunction in cardiomyocytes. (pp. 5-9), including an invoice for $100 sent to A.W. in the fall of 2004 and *1295 paid. Tr. of Proceedings, vol. IV, p. 37. K.M.G.E. testified, however, that it was able to review A.W.'s business records only for the months of October and November 2004. Id. at 40-41. Moreover, K.M.G.E. testified that the $100 invoice was not in A.W.'s records and he has no knowledge of where A.W. purchased the tower or who purchased it for A.W. Id. at 52-53. The Court finds K.M.G.E.'s testimony concerning the $100 bill from A.W. unpersuasive. According to K.M.G.E.'s testimony, the $100 bill was in the files of its landlord, as the bill was in the possession of the landlord's legal counsel. Tr. of Proceedings, vol. IV, p. 47. Therefore, the $100 bill was not a business record of A.W. and the Court finds that K.M.G.E. has not established that the $100 bill is admissible as a business record under Rule 803(6). V. CONCLUSION The Court has not denied Plaintiff's Motion in its entirety. In its ruling, the Court has made findings of fact and conclusions of law as required by Rule 52(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Based on these findings of fact and conclusions of law, the Court DENIES Plaintiff's Motion for Attorney's Fees. The Clerk is REQUESTED to mail a copy of this Order to all counsel of record.
